Teacher Spotlight- Mr. Sanchez

Daniel Wavery & Dano Zade Liro

Do you know a teacher named Mr. Sanchez? Well we're going to uncover his everyday life. He had many jobs during his life. "He went to Rubidoux High school for two years but got kicked out for not meeting its standards" said Ms. Davis. "During his high school years his nickname was "dirty" because he never took a bath when he was done breeding lamas." said Mrs.

Harris. She adds "After that he was in charge of ringing the bell at the UCR bell towers. When he lost that job he went and applied for the NASA program but got kicked out because he was too much of a space cadet" said Mr. Monge. Well you know he lost that job as soon as he walked in. "Then he applied to be a contestant on Project Runway. He was an aspiring fashion designer." from his BFF Mrs. Holt

"If he never lost that job and became a teacher he would have been a perfect ballet dancer!" said Mr. Monge when asked about Mr. Sanchez's ballerina slippers. Sadly, these are the most important achievement in his life.

For spring break, Mr. Sanchez is going to Forks, Washington. "He's still looking for his tamales", said Mr. Schumacher, and "he believes they might be there because of his personal fortune teller." Mr. Monge advises "If you ask him for some tamales, you'll only get one"

Penguin World Domination

Brave Gilstir

Yesterday at 6:32 am unknown forces invaded Chile. The entire world was in shock as the U.N. announced what happened. Penguins have invaded Chile. The penguin threat has been a problem since early times when Attila the Penguin attacked the Roman Empire. Ever since then the government has been trying to hide the Penguin Threat. But unfortunately the penguins struck again and the world is on the verge of World War 3. The emperor of the Penguin Empire states he will not stop until he sees the penguin flag from the north pole to the south pole. Recently other coastal countries such as; Japan, Australia, Argentina, and Brazil have been attacked. "The penguin military is fierce and swift they attacked without warning" said one victim of the attacks. The president of the United States says if the penguins continue to invade they will bring war upon them. Currently the penguins are in possession of most of the southern hemisphere. The biggest problem, no one knows who the emperor is. "We need this knowledge so we can stop him and gain info on attacks" says one military expert. The penguins are ruthless and are extremely powerful peace is not an option. Recently CIA operatives discovered Intel about a potential attack on Riverside Ca and Forks Washington. Local schools have prepared bomb shelters and warnings to prepare students. Will the penguins achieve their goal? In this Emperors err... I mean reporters mind Yes.

The Missing Homework

Emc Passinati-Breudio

You may wonder why students don't bring their homework to school. Some students do bring their homework but it magically disappears. This is because there is a mysterious portal in front of the main school gate. It takes your homework by sucking it out of your backpack and puts it back in your bedroom.

This has happened to a lot of kids recently. Teachers are always wondering why students don't bring their homework. The students say it's in their backpack but when they start looking for it, it's not there. The teacher then has to fail them and that's why they don't have a good grade in their classes.

If you have a flash drive, it can suck the flash drive and put it in your bedroom. Sometimes the portal erases all your memory and leaves you with a blank flash drive and a blank look on your face. Then the students tell the teacher they had all their power points and their essay saved. So don't freak out that your homework isn't there— just say the portal sucked it out of your backpack and put it back in your bedroom.

MLMS Uniforms

Ciara Mirov Erenz

Do you feel that every morning you can't find what to wear? Well Starting next year Mira Loma Middle school will begin a completely different dress code policy: Uniforms. On March 20th 2010 a special board meeting took place at the school district. This meeting took place to certify that MLMS will have school uniforms.

As of next year the new school colors will be black and mustard yellow. For the girls: long ankle cut skirts and white leggings will be needed with a mustard yellow shirt. For the boys: black shorts(5 inches above the knee) with suspenders and a mustard yellow shirt, long socks all the way to the knee— just like Erkel. The shirts will be embroidered with a chicken emblem—our new mascot!

The idea of new uniforms was brought up by our principle, Mrs. Freeman. She visited a school with uniforms in Forks Washington, and thought our school and students needed a new look. The staff at the meeting also thought it would be a good idea because the school itself would be getting a whole new look.

I know there are people who will be opposed to this idea. This is why on Tuesday April 6th anyone that disagrees with this idea will have the chance to speak to the board against the new policy. If enough people voice their opinion, than the policy will be removed. If not— get ready for MUSTARD!

“Get ready for MUSTARD!!!”

New Mascot: MLMS Pollos

Zassio Laagerr

Pollo Pride!

You probably know that our school mascot is the Mountain Lion. What if I told you we are going to get a new mascot? The school site council had a meeting on March 12 and talked about our school. They said that our mascot was getting old so they talked about getting a new one and they chose and approved that our mascot will be a chicken and that the changes will be done by the time we get back from our spring break which is April 12.

We will have a real chicken at our school to show the teachers how smart they are. Since we changed the mascot we have to change colors and teams. The new colors are mustard yellow and black. There will be no teams (even though everyone knows the prowlers are the best.)

Other changes will be made to the front of our school. A picture of a chicken will be placed there, and our name will change from Mira Loma Middle School to Mira Loma Pollo Polytechnic.

By the way the council is going to make us wear uniforms next year. I know you don't like changes but you're going to have to deal with it.

Viral Infection Starts in Forks Washington

Mira Rang-Cog

Have you noticed an increasing rate of absences in your advisory classes? Does the person next to you in second period have glowing red eyes? Then they might have Gwithilit, a disease found in Forks, Washington. While 26 cases have been reported, none have been deadly. All of the reported cases have the same symptoms and side effects. No cures have been found yet, but each case has been carefully watched by scientists.

Symptoms include, but are not limited to; changing eye color, a sudden interest in fast cars, tearless eyes, incredible speed, and a craving for human blood. This illness has not proven to be easily spread, except by cross contamination of bodily fluids, usually by biting another person. Although the disease was found to have started in another state, the World Health Organization describes it as being localized to the Mira Loma area. This is a very serious epidemic as it doesn't take your life, although you may wish it did in the end, it does much worse. If you think you have Gwithilit, welcome to the dark side.

Infected Food

Denora Spalz

You may have felt a little weird after the lunch you had at MLMS for the last few weeks. You probably haven't felt those symptoms ever. Did it ever occur to you that it might be the food served for lunch at our school? Watch out for these symptoms: vomit, big rashes on your tongue or in your ears, or if you're growing weird hair, it's a sign of an infection caused by bad food. If you didn't know, much of our MLMS food is made in the state of Washington, and people have heard that there is a sort of disease going around there. Residents living in Washington really think about what they should do, since they don't want their children getting any of this disease. Some students have been taken to the doctor and they have been told that if they continue eating our school's food, their situation will get much worse. For some students eating the school's food, it took them about 24 hours to feel the symptoms. Some felt them after they were done with their lunch. One student started to have a big rash in his mouth and his teacher thought he was chewing gum. Another student went to the office for a dress code violation that may have been causing her immense itchiness in her ears. People aren't really sure what the disease is called or where it came from. All they know is that it is infecting the food brought to MLMS and that it's causing many weird symptoms to our students. Remember that if you start feeling any of these symptoms, you immediately have to go to the doctor.

Killer Lizards

Adamari Malgarine

Have you ever heard bizarre, odd, and out of the ordinary noises coming from the bushes in the hallway at MIMS? Did it ever come in mind to you that there is a strange animal making those noises? Think about it this way. Some 12 inch lizard that are Slimy green, contain razor sharp teeth that could bite right thru your flesh. The cool thing about these animals is that they can camouflage with any object that surrounds them.

According to some studies, these animals are in fact real hazardous. If bitten by any of these killer lizards you may get these symptoms: slimy sweat, start to grow scales, razor sharp teeth, and at the end turn into a killer Lizard. It may seem like not a big deal but when you come home looking like a killer lizard, then we have a big problem. The good thing about this situation is that there is a cure to this type of problem. The only cure for this situation is to bathe in killer Lizard urine. The urine slowly dissolves all the scales and kills all the bacteria from the inside. You will need to stay in the urine for about 2 hours. According to some scientists, there may be a faster process by actually drinking the urine. The process would take about 30 minutes. The urine may have a bad taste, but it's not harmful to drink it. So be ware if one day you see a killer lizard by the bushes. Now you know to stay away from them or else you know what will happen!

The Secret Story

By Yerbbad Sub

Many people for years have said "Dinosaurs are extinct," but there has been recent information that there still are dinosaurs alive today.

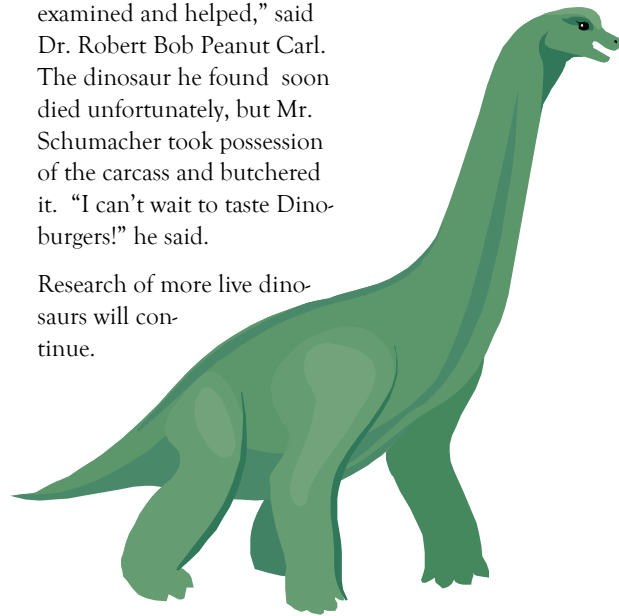

A scientist found foot prints that are known as Petrilobentirpomnipotena which means, "great and invincible." If you really think about it we never had actual proof that they are COMPLETELY extinct! Dr. Robert Bob Peanut Carl decided to see if this was true and on his journey to Jurpua he found a real dinosaur! He then went to Forks, Washington and found about 15 dinosaurs! He thinks that they may have been hiding or hibernating and is running tests on the first dinosaur he found (the dinosaur will not be harmed) He is trying to find an answer to this awkward discovery. The scientist has always had intense curiosity about other lands, and decided to venture to other places in search for more dinosaurs. He ended up finding a entire colony of dinosaurs in Europe.

"Dinosaurs have very possibly been living under our towns and cities for, well, who knows how long! We need to begin helping them and try to save them after having thought we lost them once. We will take them to a safe and confined facility to be examined and helped," said Dr. Robert Bob Peanut Carl. The dinosaur he found soon died unfortunately, but Mr. Schumacher took possession of the carcass and butchered it. "I can't wait to taste Dinoburgers!" he said.

Research of more live dinosaurs will continue.

Ipod-Disease

Suzan Joyce Velq

Are you a daily ipod freak? Research has proven daily ipod use can lead to an eventual melting of the brain and facial deformities. One afflicted student claims that her brain juices are constantly leaking out of her ears and eyes on to her homework and teachers are complaining. She also states that her face looks more like a rotten bowl of oatmeal; however she cannot stop ipod abuse.

There is a new clinic that just opened in E6 to combat ipod addiction, brain melting, and facial deformities associated with the addictive ipod. Many doctors think the cause of this disease is not because of addiction. There are also many symptoms you may catch while suffering from this horrifying disease. The symptoms may include you start melting, your face gets deformed, you get shorter and shorter every second or bigger and bigger every minute, you go bald, you grow gigantic feet; you will start laughing hysterically, most of all acting weird.

This disease may be contagious if you touch, hug, kiss, see, or talk to any ipod freak! The best way to prevent yourself from this sickening disease is to throw your ipod away or even better sell it online or something.

Just remember to be aware of who you hang out with, and be sure they don't have any of these symptoms.
